

My directory prior to running the program containing the API's test case:

My directory once the program containing the API's test case has finished running:

Images obtained by the API (API searching for dog with images resized to fit on one page):

